"It is painful to see a short-legged man trying to wade in deep water." The democratic party represents a very short-legged man trying to wade in very deep water.

The woman suffrage amendment will likely be defeated in the house. It met with a favorable reception in the senate, the house judiciary committee voted report adversely to submitting a six- amendment to the states giving the right to vote.

Success under great difficulties has been the good fortune of Mr. Walter L. Campbell, the republican candidate for mayor of Youngstown, Ohio. He has been blind ever since he was five years old, but was graduated from Harvard law school and is a fine organist and successful chess player. He was the editor of a newspaper for many years.

The educational bill has passed the senate. The bill as amended and passed, appropriates $77,000,000 to distribute among states in proportion to illiteracy on the basis of the census of 1880, the payment of the money to extend over a series of eight years. The amount to be distributed the first year shall be $7,000,000; $10,000,000 for the second; $15,000,000 for the third; then decreasing $2,000,000 annually until the fund is exhausted. It passed by a vote of 33 to 11.

To night Mr. Frederick Douglass will deliver a lecture in Philadelphia on John Brown. Probably there is not a man in this country who is more worthy or competent to speak on the life and character of Brown than Mr. Douglass. He is the greatest colored orator of this or any other country, and even regardless of color, there is not an orator in America who can more eloquently speak on that subject than Frederick Douglass. He was the special friend and trusted counselor of John Brown for many years, but in the mad plan to invade Virginia in 1859, they did not agree Brown had his own way. He met with defeat, and marched like a hero to the scaffold, and to-day Douglass will pronounce an eloquent oration upon the man whose "midsummer madness" carried him to such a tragic fate.

There has been a good deal of discussion in Janesville and other places in regard to the maximum fee for selling liquors at retail. It was supposed that the minimum fee was $75 and the maximum $200, as provided by the general law of 1882, but the statute reads as follows:

Section 1548. The town boards, village boards, and common councils of the respective towns, villages and cities may grant license to such persons as they may deem proper, to keep groceries, saloons or places within their respective towns, villages or cities for the sale in quantities less than one gallon of strong, spirituous, malt ardent or intoxicating liquors, to be drank on the premises, * * * * and the sum to be paid for such license for the sale of liquors to be drank on the premises shall not be less than seventy-five dollars, and for the sale of such liquors not to be drank on the premises shall not be less than twenty-five dollars. All such licenses shall remain in force, etc.

According to this, common council and all village boards can fix he license at any figure they can agree upon above $75. If the Janesville city council desire to increase the license fee to more than $200, they need not hesitate to do so on account of any supposed bar in the law.

Prof. Draper, of the Central Park observatory, New York city, says that in 1875 an inch and a half of snow fell on the 7th of April, and after that there was a storm that lasted three days, on the 12th, 13th and 14th, during which ten inches fell, and on the 25th there was another storm, and three inches fell, making a total for the month of five snowy days and 14½ inches snowfall. But 1875 was an extraordinary year. Prof. Draper says that there was no snow in April in 1876, 1877, 1878, 1879, 1880 or 1881, but in 1882 there was a short flurry, and one quarter of an inch of snow; and in 1883, on the 24th, there was an hour's storm, and half an inch of snow.—State Journal.

Professor Draper is in error in saying that there was no snow in April, 1879. On the 2d of April, 1879, it began to snow early in the day, and continued all day, with a blustering wind from the north. The thermometer fell to 28 degrees above zero, and before nightfall there were four inches of snow upon the ground, and altogether it was one of the most forbidding and wintry days we had for the previous three months. He is also mistaken about 1881. Snow fell rapidly on the 11th and 12th of April of that year, the storm continuing all day of the 12th, and prevailing generally throughout the state.

So many mistakes have recently occurred at fashionable parties in the east, in taking the waiters for guests, that gentlemen became greatly perplexed over the matter, and frequently refused to attend such parties. In many cases the waiters with their swallow-tail broadcloths were much more attractive (in appearance than the gentlemen; and many a time the ladies got to throwing their sweetest smiles at the waiters before they learned their awful mistake. A New Yorker, interested in the business of making party suits for gentlemen, has hit upon a mark by which gentlemen may be known from waiters. He says let the waiters wear the broadcloth, swallow-tails, and let the gentlemen guests wear swallow-tails in woolen goods that are colored. This distinguishing mark would be effective, and the ladies would no longer smilingly and bewitchingly play with the bouquet on the lapel of a waiter. This is the way to settle the matter, and probably it is the only way. When waiters and gentlemen are dressed alike, the former frequently show much better breeding than the latter and it is no wonder waiters are so often taken for the gentlemen.

The people of Chicago are doubtless disgusted with Mr. Matthew Arnold's impression of that city, which he caused to be printed in the Pall Mall (London) Gazette. Mr. Arnold was in Chicago two or three days only, and yet he pretended to write a studied and an intelligent article on the culture and social life of that city, when in fact he he did not have time to study the intellectual or social status of the people. He sneers at Chicago and writes ridiculous nonsense concerning the "culture" found in the western metropolis. The Journal remarks: "The disgusting self-conceit and egotism of Mr. Arnold, as exhibited in his paper on Chicago, as in other of his writings, do not mark him as a man of very refined culture or of very nice sensibilities, and Chicago and Chicago's people need not feel badly at being sneered at by one who is himself evidently lacking in the first and best elements of genuine culture. He is a man of intellect, no doubt, but his case is not the first example of the fact that it is possible even for a man of intellect to be a vulgarian." The Journal would have more directly hit the nail on the head if it had said that it was a very easy matter for a man of Matthew Arnold's disposition and intellect to make a fool of himself.

ON SHILOH'S FIELD.

Veteran Excursion to the Scene of a Great Battle.

Exercises in the National Cemetery ---Going Over the Battlefield and Looking for Relics---An Incident of Shiloh.

SHILOH BATTLE-FIELD, April 8.—The excursion of ex-federal soldiers and citizens from Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, and Ohio has been magnificently managed. The greater majority of 300 present are from Illinois and Iowa. The scenes on the steamers Nisbet and Gilbert were those of general jollity, every one, especially the officers of the boats, doing everything to make things pleasant. Before reaching Savannah it was ascertained from wild rumors that small-pox was raging in that town to an unlimited extent. The excursionists were much disturbed over the reports, and would not let any one come on the steamers from that town. The disappointment of not being able to go ashore and see the two-story house occupied as headquarters by Gen. Grant was very great. The two steamers remained over at Crump's landing, four miles distant in order to come here by 8:30 a. m. The pleasantest part of the whole trip was when the two steamers, lashed together as was often done during the war, passed up to Shiloh, the Grand Army of the Republic band, of Decatur, Ills., and the Audubon band, of Iowa, playing alternately. All the old soldiers were much affected by the band playing "Home Again" and "Auld Lang Syne," and gave three cheers for the old flag. Having landed, a line was formed, when they marched to the beautiful national cemetery, on a hill overlooking the Tennessee river. It was stated in explanation that the reason there were not more people of the surrounding country present was in consequence of the small-pox scare, for which there was no particular need, as Savannah had her thirty negro patients quarantined. The exercises, were brief, with appropriate addresses, which were eloquent, conservative and patriotic. In the course of his remarks, D. C. Smith, of the Eighth Illinois, expressed his belief that the north and south were a united and indissoluble people; it was an honorable fight for one's convictions, and the result was the inspiration of divine providence.

Judge Dickey, of the Illinois supreme court, told of the death of his son-in-law, Gen. Wallace, with great emotion, at times being unable to speak. With trembling voice he said he was reminded by Gen. Campbell, of Jackson, Tenn., in passing through that place that his division confronted that of Gen. Wallace. On that fatal day five connections of the family were slain. His daughter, having determined to visit her husband, found on reaching here that the battle was raging with great fury, and the message she received was that he had been killed. Judge Dickey had been told of an incident that was worthy of perpetuation: A Confederate was bending over a wounded Federal placing water to his parched lips when both were swept away by a cannon-ball. God worked all things well, though the confederates would probably not forget their defeat. He predicted that the south would be one of the most prosperous sections of the union within the next twenty years. He believed that nine-tenths of the ex-Confederates had no feeling in the matter. It had all passed away. The federals fought without malice and for the preservation of the union.

Large numbers went over the battle-field to see whether they could locate the old landmarks of the battle and to find relics. Capt. Duncan, of the steamer Nisbet, said that since the war he had transferred tons upon tons of land in cakes of every description, which had been melted in every species of vessel, from bullets picked off the field of carnage. The camp fires of peace are ablaze, and the veterans say they are a striking reminder of twenty-two years ago.

Gibson on Governor Murray.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 8.—Mr. A. M. Gibson has addressed a sharp letter to Chairman Springer, of the house committee on expenditures in the department of justice, in which he criticises in rather harsh terms the action of the committee in exonerating Governor Murray, of Utah. Among other things he charges the committee with having "swallowed the intolerable deal of sack ladled out by this modern Falstaff" and "graciously accepting the modicum of explanation he vouchsafed about the charges against him as a complete vindication." He then claims that if the committee will permit him to examine the witnesses he will undertake to prove to its entire satisfaction that "while marshal of Kentucky Ell H. Murray systematically defrauded the government by charging illegal fees," etc.

SPRING ELECTIONS.

Republicans Carry Cleveland by 3,000 or 4,000 Majority.

Nothing Definite from Cincinnati---Democrats Take the Cake at Indianapolis---Votes in Various Towns East and West.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 8.—The local elections passed off quietly, both Republicans and Democrats were well organized, and a larger vote than usual was polled. The Republicans largely increased their vote by bringing out the usual stay-at-homes who only vote during the presidential year. Up to a year ago Cleveland gave large Republican majorities, but last year the Democrats elected the mayor and other officials and a majority in the city council and board of education. The Democratic majority last fall was 1,300. Recently the Democratic council redistricted the city, which appears to have resulted disastrously to their interests. Something like 35,000 votes were polled. The weather was clear and pleasant, although a light rain set in late. The question of free school-books and other local disputes did much toward making many scratched tickets.

Returns from nearly every ward in the city indicate that the Republican majority will be anywhere between 3,000 and 4,000. Chairman Web, of the Democratic central committee, concedes a Republican majority in the city of 2,500. This is a Republican gain of 3,700 over the vote of last year. The Democrats claim eight councilmen out of twenty-five at midnight, while the Republicans say they will have a majority in both council and board of education. Still later returns show that the Republicans majority in the city will be about 3,300. They are jubilant, and claim that the result of the election means a majority of 25,000 in Ohio November.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 8.—The Republicans made decisive gains at the municipal election here. Last fall Hoadly carried the city for governor on the Democratic ticket by 921. Returns from seventeen of the twenty-six precincts show a net Republican gain of 377. At this rate the Republican majority in the city will not be less than 500, and on some candidates will be higher. There were no specially local issues. The liquor element that formerly voted the Republican ticket is returning to it. The vote was against Sunday base ball, and largely for the new court house. The election gives the Republicans the city council, school board, police commission, and all the city department.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 8.—The returns from the city election indicate the success of Bayer, Republican, who heads the ticket as candidate for street commissioner, by 150 to 200; Coyle, Republican, for board of police commissioner, by 1,000; and one constable. Puck, trustee of the water-works, and three constables, are elected by the Democrats, with the trustee of the cemetery in doubt. Beatty, Democrat, and a member of the state legislature, is defeated for alderman in the First ward, and Kahle, Democrat, late member of the legislature, is defeated for the council in the Seventh ward. The Republicans will gain several members of the common council. The German vote of the city has been largely cast with the Republicans, who regard the election as a decided victory.

CINCINNATI, April 8.—Accurate returns from not above fifteen precincts are in on the vote at Monday's municipal election. Grapevine reports are in possession of the Lincoln club from about ten more precincts, making twenty-five in all. These returns indicate a slight decrease of Democratic majorities, but none of the heavy German wards have been heard from, and it is in them that the Republicans expect to gain most. It is believed now that Richards, Republican, is surely elected clerk of the police court. Indications at present are that the total result will be mixed, and that majorities will not be large on either side.

Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 8.—The township election here resulted in the election of the Democratic ticket by majorities ranging from 400 to 1,200. The issues were purely local, and the Republicans did not turn out over 60 per cent. of their vote.

LA PORTE, Ind., April 8.—The election of officers for Center township was held here. The Democrats made gains in all the precincts and elected their ticket by about 250 majority. A cold rain prevailed the greater part of the day, and there was but little excitement. The Democrats of Hanna township elected their entire ticket by good majorities. In Lincoln township the Democrats carried their ticket by a small majority.

WABASH, Ind., April 8.—Four precincts in this township give the Republican candidate for trustee 200 majority, which will be increased by the other two to 250, a gain of 125. The Republicans elect trustees in Waltz, Liberty, Noble and Pleasant townships and lose one in Paw Paw. Save in the last-named, the Republicans gain largely. A full vote was polled.

ELKHART, Ind., April 8.—At the election a light vote was polled. Returns come in slowly, but they indicate the election of Kellogg, trustee, by a small majority, showing a Democratic gain.

PERU, Ind., April 8.—The township elections held in this county resulted in a defeat for the Republicans. The Democrats in this (Peru) township elected their trustee by 230 majority.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., April 8.—A light vote was polled. The Democrats elect their entire ticket in this township. Returns from other townships have been received from only three, which give the Republicans a gain of two trustees.

MOUNT VERNON, Ind., April 8.—The Democrats of Posey county elected eight township trustees by handsome majorities. In Marrs township, which is strongly Democratic, there was no contest, an Independent Republican having been indorsed by both parties. In Black township, which has always been Republican, the candidate of that party was elected.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 8.—At the election in the township of South Bend, the entire Republican ticket was elected by over 100 majority, a Republican gain of 420. There was not a single Greenback or Anti-Monopoly vote cast.

MUNCIE, Ind., April 8.—Center township elected the entire Republican ticket by a majority of 210, a Democratic gain of over 300. Hamilton county elects the Democratic ticket by large gains. Returns come in slowly on the township election, but indicate Democratic gains throughout the county.

In Other Cities.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Elections held in a number of towns in Michigan, Illinois and Iowa show that the issues were mostly of temperance, reform, labor and other questions, politics, as between the two great parties having little to do with them. In Michigan the tickets principally elected were as follows: Muskegon, Workingmen's; Jackson, Democratic; Ypsilanti, do.; St. Joseph, Republican; Niles, Democratic; Saugatuck, People's; Lansing, Democratic; Adrian, Democratic; Saginaw, Republican; Grand Rapids, Union; Kalamazoo, mixed between Democrats and Republicans. As stated above local matters entered largely into the canvasses, even where the tickets bore the names of the two great parties.

In Illinois, Wheaton and Decatur were carried by the temperance people; Mt. Carroll and Geneseo, for license; El Paso and Shelbyville, Democratic; Jacksonville, Republican.

In Iowa, Keokuk and Dubuque went Democratic.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 8.—The municipal elections here resulted in the election of Daniel N. Morgan (Dem.) mayor, by a majority of 452. The council stands 13 to 12.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 8.—The city election resulted in the re-election of Mayor Bulkeley, Republican, by a majority of 850 and the remainder of the ticket mixed. Both Republicans and Democrats made gains in the council.

BOSTON, April 8.—Of thirteen towns in the state holding town meetings ten voted no license; one—Littleton—unanimously, and one—Duxbury—2 to 1, and one Dartmouth—125 to 1.

FIXING THE RESPONSIBILITY

For the Steinmann Horror---The Captain Blamed.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 8.—The official inquiry into the loss of the Daniel Steinmann has commenced, and the three surviving passengers were examined. Captain Scott and the board will proceed to Sambro island to take the evidence of the light keeper and all there, and, returning to the city, will continue the investigation with the evidence of the survivors.

The general opinion of all competent to judge is that the loss was solely attributable to negligence. The captain says that he took Sabro light for Chebucto head, first sighting it two points on the starboard bow, and keeping to starboard. This, it is stated, no sane man who knew anything about the coast, or had the sense to look at his approach on the chart, would do. Neither Chebucto head nor Sambro light can be approached in that direction, and even if the light seen had been Chebucto light, he would have had to sail through three miles of shoals and breakers to have reached port on time. The only way of approach to the harbor when Sambro light is first seen on the starboard bow, according to experienced men, is to wear off to the westward till Baltis points light is well abeam to port, and then Chebucto light cannot be seen; but this passage should never be attempted without a most experienced pilot and in fair weather. When he saw the light on her starboard bow, knowing it to be either Sambro or Chebucto, the only safe course for the captain was to port his helm hard and keep off three or four miles till the light bore well on his port quarter, before heading in, and to pass Sambro on his port beam at a good distance, and Chebucto closer. Pilots say it was most perilous to approach the coast on such a night anyway, and not one of them would have ventured to bring him in. The steamer was valued at $130,000 and well insured.

The British Commons.

LONDON, April 8.—In the house of commons debate was resumed on the government's bill extending the franchise. The amendment proposed by the Rt. Hon. Sir John Manners, Conservative, member for North Leicestershire, that the house decline to proceed further with the bill until it has before it the entire scheme of reform contemplated, was rejected by a vote of 210 to 340. The object of the proposed amendment was to precipitate a discussion upon the effect of the redistribution of seats in the commons, which would necessarily result from the extension of the franchise. The amendment was supposed to be a party measure on the part of the Conservatives, and it had been opposed by Mr. Gladstone as likely to lead to confusion in debate, and to indefinitely delay in the passage of the bill.

Bridge War on the Ohio.

HENDERSON, Ky., April 8.—The Henderson Bridge company undertook to take possession of O'Connor & McCullough's works at the foot of fourth street about 5 a. m. Mr. O'Connor arrived on the spot and drove the workmen away. Afterwards Mr. Nichol, assistant engineer of the company, cut the wire cables holding a large derrick, when he ran and leaped into a buggy and drove off. O'Connor gave chase with pistol in hand, but the large crowd that gathered prevented his shooting. Nichol swore out a warrent of arrest against O'Connor, Dan Harding and another, who gave bond and then swore out warrents against Nichol. Nichol had not been arrested at 12 o'clock. The Carlisle rifles are under orders with the guards at the armory.

Looking for Points.

CINCINNATI, April 8.—Gilbert H. Barger, chairman of the Democratic state committee, is in Cincinnati watching the election. He was in consultation with many prominent Democrats, and his object is to watch the liquor vote and the German defection. It was part of Barger's political judgment that if the Democracy don't gain or win in today's elections, something must be done to switch the party on the right track to win next fall. He represents the Payne element, and he can see in the municipal battle a forecast of the Payne presidential position. As a member of the legislature, Barger wants to be posted on the action of the liquor men, so he may know what to do on the graded tax bill now pending in the house.

All Silk Ribbons

We have been trying for some time to get a low priced all-silk Ribbon, but all that we have seen have been too poor and imperfect in quality. We have succeeded in making such arrangements with the manufacturer as to secure a large lot of our regular brand.

Satin Gros Grain and Ribbons

Which we will sell at the following prices as long as they last. This is an all silk Ribbon, first class in every respect and in all the ne and desirable shades. We are sure that it will suit the public better than a much inferior quality at a little lower price.

WOOL AND WHISKY.

The House Refuses to Restore the 1867 Wool Tariff,

And Declares Against a Change in the Whisky Tax---Passage of Blair's Educational Bill in the Senate.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 8.—The house has at last got to a vote on the proposition to restore the tariff on wool of 1867. After the call of states for bills for reference had been concluded and one or two other matters been attended to, Converse moved to discharge the committee of ways and means from its further consideration, and pass the bill to restore the duty on wool, as fixed by the act of 1867. Converse yielded first to McKinley, who advocated the passage of the bill. He appealed to his Republican friends to sustain the resolution. He also appealed to the Democratic side because their leaders in Ohio in the last campaign had promised that it should be the first act of the Democratic congress.

Morrison said the duty now existing was fixed by the tariff commission and by the protectionists in congress, who now sought to retrace their steps. He argued that the duty on wool could not be considered properly without taking into consideration the duty on woolen goods. He gave notice that he would call up his tariff bill on Tuesday of next week.

Hurd opposed the increase of duty on wool because the direct effect was to increase the cost and lay further burden on the poor for their clothing. With the large numbers now out of employment this was an unauspicious moment to pass the bill. If any class of manufacturers were to be helped let it be the manufacturers of luxuries paid for by the rich, do not impose further taxes upon the suffering poor. He claimed that it was the American manufacturer that made the price of American wool and as he prospered the wool grower prospered. It was because of the high price of foreign wool that American wool was so cheap to-day. Foreign wool brought here increased the demand for American wool to mix with it to produce the best results. He urged free wool and a corresponding reduction on woolen goods. He knew his legislature had asked him to vote to increase the duty on wool, but he would not vote to make the clothing for the poor dearer if every Democrat in Ohio asked it. [Applause.]

Converse denied that the figures sustained the rhetoric of his colleague [Hurd]. Every one knew that free trade meant British protection [applause]. He denied the necessity for foreign wool for mixing. The question was not whether we should have cheap wool or cheap clothing, but whether this industry should be destroyed by competition with the perennial fields of Australia, where a hundred square miles can be rented for sheep-grazing for $100.

The vote on the motion of Mr. Converse resulted: Yeas, 119; nays, 126. Forty-one Democrats voted for the bill, and twelve Republicans against it.

Of the 118 affirmative votes, 80 were given by Republicans and 38 by Democrats. Of the 126 negative votes, 114 were cast by Democrats and 12 by Republicans. The twelve Republicans who voted against increasing the duty were Davis, Lyman, Long, Witing, and Rockwell of Massachusetts, Adams of Illinois, Henderson and Struble of Iowa, James of New York, and Nelson, White, and Strait of Minnesota. The following is the affirmative vote: Anderson, Atkinson, Bayne, Belford, Bisbee, Boyle, Brainard, Breitung, Brewer of New York, Brewer of New Jersey, Browne of Indiana, Brown of Pennsylvania, Calkins, Campbell of Pennsylvania, Cannon, Chance, Connolly, Converse, Culbertson of Kentucky, Cullen, Cutcheon, Dibrell, Duncan, Eldredge, Ellwood, Ermentrout, Everhart, Fielder, Findlay, Funston, George, Gibson, Glascock, Goff, Guenther, Hanback, Harmer, Hart, Hatch of Michigan, Haynes, Henderson of Illinois, Henley, Hepburn, Hewitt of Alabama, Hill, Hitt, Holmes, Holton, Hooper, Hopkins, Horr, Houk, Howey, Hunt, Jeffords, Jordan, Kasson, Keifer, Kelly, Ketcham, Lacey, Laird, Lawrence, Le Fevre, McComas, McCormick, McKinley, Millard, Morey, Morrill, Murray, Mutchler, Nichols, Nutting, O'Neill of Pennsylvania, Paige, Parker, Patton, Payne, Payson, Peelle of Indiana, Perkins, Peters, Phelps, Poland, Price, Randall, Ray of New York, Robinson of Ohio, Rosecrans, Rowell, Russell, Ryan, Shelley, Skinner of New York, Smalls, Snider, Spriggs, Stephenson, Stevens, Stewart of Vermont, Storm, Sumner of Wisconsin, E. B. Taylor, J. B. Taylor of Ohio, Tillman, Tully, Valentine, Wakefield, Warner of Ohio, Weaver, Weller, Wemple, White of Kentucky, Wilkins, Wilson of Iowa, Wilson of West Virginia, Winans of Wisconsin, York.—119.

Thompson, of Kentucky, moved to suspend the rules and pass a resolution declaring it unwise and inexpedient for the present congress to reduce or abolish the present tax on spirits distilled from grain.

White of Kentucky, opposed the resolution, because it operated as a bar to legislation repealing the bonded warehouse act, and requiring the prompt payment of the tax.

Cox of New York, urged that action on whisky should be deferred until the tariff bill came up, and that the whole question of revenue should be considered together.

Willis of Kentucky, stood for dear whisky. It was a luxury that would bear taxation, and should be taxed. This was, however, a simple business proposition to remove a threat of danger to the distillers, which this vote would show had no good foundation.

Kasson, Young of Tennessee, Budd of Colorado, Springer, and Thompson advocated the resolution, which was passed—yeas, 179; nays, 33.

Vest on Voorhees.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 8.—One of the features of the debate in the senate over the educational bill was Vest's reply to Voorhees. The latter is said to have remarked on Saturday that he would give Vest a going on the constitutional aspect of the bill. Voorhees commended the bill as the most beneficent measure of the past twenty years, and as a measure of kindness and reconciliation toward the youth. He talked nearly two hours in its advocacy.

Vest then rose, and replied to the threat of Voorhees to excoriate him on account of his [Vest's] constitutional objections to the bill. "I have not lost any sleep or suffered any injury on account of that threat," said Vest. "It is not the first time that the result has not come up to the manifesto of the senator. His speech was simply a succession of brilliant tropes and second-hand rhetoric that never touched the measure before the senate. There was once in this country a distinguished statesman who achieved the sobriquet of Moses leading the negroes to the promised land. His successor now appears in the person of the senator from Indiana, who wishes to lead the piccaninnies of the south in that direction. [Laughter.] There has been a great deal of talk about the constitution. Why talk about it after we have had such a constitutional funeral as we have had in this debate? I will only say that I will never stand here again to make an argument upon the constitution based upon the opinions of statesmen or views of the supreme court. I have been reminded during this debate of the council of monkeys which was broken up by one of them passing round a handful of nuts. [Laughter.] One hundred and five millions of dollars are now being handed around, and if Indiana does not get her share of the nuts, it will not be the fault of the senator from that state, who has just spoken about this bill." [Great laughter.]

Congressional Record.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 8.—The senate took up the education bill for the final struggle, Voorhees making the closing speech in its favor. Amendments by Hoar were agreed to, that the amount to be distributed shall be $7,000,000 the first year, $10,000,000 the second, and $15,000,000 the third, then diminishing $2,000,000 yearly, and that all children have an equal opportunity for education. An amendment by Sherman was carried, that the money shall be used only for common schools not sectarian in character. At a late hour the bill was passed.

As passed, the education bill appropriates $77,000,000 to be distributed for eight years according to the Hoar amendment. It differs also from the original bill by imposing restrictions as to the expenditure of the money. The states are to apply at least an equal sum to that allotted to them for common school education. Reports have to be made by the states on the uses to which the money is put to the secretary of the interior. The appropriations are not to be used for sectarian purposes.

The house of representatives passed a joint resolution giving court reports and sets of the revised statutes to the Cincinnati law library. Resolutions were offered calling for information regarding the threatened confiscation of the American college in Italy, and authorizing the president to fill the vacancy in the international prison commission. Bills were introduced to incorporate the Cherokee & Arkansas River and the Montana & Idaho Railroad companies. On suspension of the rules, a resolution was adopted making bills for the erection of public buildings a continuing special order for April. A motion by Converse to suspend the rules and pass the bill restoring the duty of 1867 on wool was debated for half an hour by Messrs. McKinley, Morrison, Hurd, and Converse, and was defeated by 119 to 126. A resolution declaring it unwise to reduce the tax on whisky was adopted by 179 to 33.

The Postal Telegraph.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 8.—The formal report upon the postal telegraph bill is being prepared and will be submitted in the course of a week or ten days. The report will be an exhaustive document and will point out the advantages which will accrue to the public by the establishment of a system of postal telegraphy. Several minor changes have been made in the phraseology of the bill agreed upon by the committee, which, it is understood, were suggested by President Green, of the Western Union company, who has been in the city at intervals during the agitation of the question of governmental telegraphy. Members of the committee construe the interest exhibited by the Western Union people respecting the phraseology of the bill to indicate that they contemplate submitting a proposition under its provisions inviting proposals to lease lines for handling the postal business. Senator Hill is of the opinion that, in the event of the passage of the bill by the senate (and he regards the chances as very favorable), the house will act upon it promptly, in order to meet the public demand for cheaper telegraph rates.

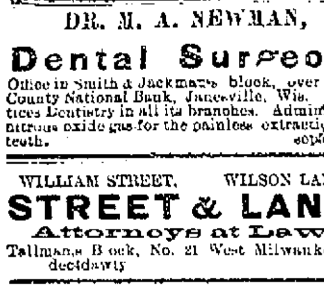
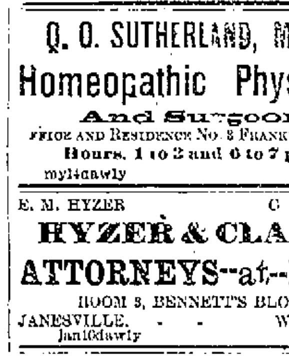
This is the jobber with air content,
Who buys his Corn Planters of A. C. Kent.



I have taken comfort with my Corn Planter trade since I have been handling Kent's Corn Planters. They always give perfect satisfaction.

This is the jobber with air forlorn,
That bought the planters that wouldn't plant corn.



If I had bought Kent's Triumph corn planters, I should have got my pay for them, instead of having all this mess returned and my trade ruined.
I will hereafter buy no planters but A. C. Kent's Triumph.

This is the dealer with judgement sound,
Who always buys the best goods that can be found.

Farmer Thayer, I can warrant Kent's Triumph corn planter to give satisfaction every time. I have sold them for five years, and never had one back yet.

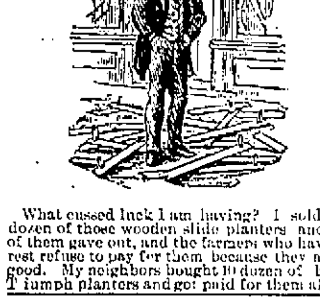
This is the dealer with judgement poor,
Who says: Anything is good enough for the country boor.

What cussed luck I am having? I sold two dozen of those wooden slide planters and half of them gave out, and the farmers who have the rest refuse to pay for them because they are no good. My neighbors bought 10 dozen of Kent's Triumph planters and got paid for them all.

This is Farmer Thayer, with a practical air.
Who always buys goods where dealings are square.

I tell you sir, Kent's Triumph corn planter, with malleable iron slide and box bottom, is worth a dozen of the other kinds. They drop even, cover the corn well and never give out.

This is the farmer with judgement rash.
That always buys some sort of worthless trash.



If I had taken farmer Thayer's advice and bought one of Kent's Triumph corn planters I should not have had all this grief.

WOMAN AND HOME.

A Brief Discourse on Good Manners at the Table.

President Madison's Wife---Industry of Italian Women---Southern Belles---Items of Interest to the Fair Sex.

["M. A. E." in Detroit Free Press "Household."]

Match stains can be extracted from marble by sulphide of carbon.

A little soap or lard applied to the hinges of doors will prevent them creaking.

To restore rancid butter wash well with fresh sweet milk and next with cold water.

To remove the stain of perspiration apply a strong solution of soda and rinse in cold water.

The yellow stains on the margin of engravings may be removed by a solution of hydrochloride of soda.

Swansdown may be washed in soap and water; after washing shake it out, and when the down is somewhat raised shake it before the fire till dry.

To prevent flat-irons from rusting warm them, then rub with new and clean white wax. Put again to the fire till they have soaked in the wax. When done rub over with a piece of serge.

To wash red flannel mix two tablespoonfuls of flour in a quart of cold water and boil ten minutes; add warm suds and wash the flannel gently; rinse it in three warm waters. The brightest scarlet will never lose its color if treated thus.

To cleanse medicine bottles put a small quantity of ashes in them, immerse in cold water and heat gradually till it boils. After boiling an hour, let them remain in the water till it is cold. Wash them in soap suds and rinse in clean water.

To clean white kid slippers put an ounce of hartshorn into a saucer, dip a bit of clean flannel in it and rub it on a piece of white soap; rub the slippers with this, and as each piece of flannel becomes soiled take a fresh piece. The kid will look like new.

To solder tortoise-shell bring the edges of the pieces of shell to fit each other, giving the same inclination of grain to each, then secure them in a piece of paper and place them between hot pincers; apply pressure and let them cool. The heat must not be so great as to burn the shell.

To clean japanned waiters rub on with a sponge a little white soap and some warm water, and wash quite clean. Never use hot water as it will cause the japan to peel. Wipe dry, sprinkle a little flour over it; let it rest awhile, and then rub it with a soft, dry cloth, and finish with a soft piece of old silk.

To wash point lace mix a teaspoonful of powdered borax with strong white castile soap-suds. Baste the lace very carefully, with fine cotton, upon two thicknesses of white flannel; soak in the soap-suds twenty-four hours, or longer if much soiled, changing the water once. Squeeze out, do not wring, and when nearly dry place the flannel, lace downward, on two thicknesses of flannel and smooth with a hot iron. When the lace is thoroughly dry remove from the flannel.

To loosen ground glass stoppers wrap a rag wet with hot water around the neck of the bottle and let it stand a few minutes. The heat will expand the neck of the bottle when the stopper can be removed before the heat penetrates the stopper itself; or take a piece of strong cord about a yard in length, double it in the middle and tie a knot so as to form a loop of about four inches in length at the double end; bring the knot close to one side of the stopper and tie the ends tightly together on the other side so as to fasten the string securely round the neck of the stopper; now pass one of the ends through the loop and tie it firmly to the other end; the double cord is then to be placed over a bar or other support; then if the bottle is surrounded by a cloth, to prevent accident in case of fracture, and pulled downward with a jerk, it will be found that in a short time the stopper is liberated. Two precautions are necessary. One is, that the strain on both sides of the stopper is equal; the other, that care be taken that when the stopper is loosened it is not dashed against any hard substance which would break it.

Dolly Madison.
[Ben: Perley Poore.]

Mrs. Dolly Payne Madison was of Virginia parentage, though her birth took place in North Carolina during a visit of her parents to that state. A short time after her birth her parents joined the Society of Friends, and manumitting their slaves removed to Pennsylvania, and their daughter Dolly received her education in this city. At an early age she was married to Mr. Todd, a young lawyer of Philadelphia, who died a short time afterwards, leaving her with an infant. The young and beautiful widow was not without suitors, and, among the number, James Madison, then a member of congress from Virginia, was the favored one, to whom she was wedded in 1794. Throughout his long and eventful career she sustained the character of a devoted wife, and was of no small service to her distinguished husband in many of the scenes of life.

During his administration as president of the United States she presided over the White House with a dignity and grace seldom equalled, and commanded the admiration of Americans as well as foreigners. Upon the approach of the British army to Washington in 1814, rare heroic qualities were developed in her character. To the last moment that her friends would permit, she remained in the White House, securing cabinet papers, plate and other valuables, and absolutely refusing to leave until the portrait of the father of his country, by Stuart, was taken down and secured from the impending vandalism of the invaders. Her flight from the White House, and her escape in disguise, form an interesting and romantic incident of the history of that period. It was a trying time for the wife of an American president, and there are few women who would, under the circumstances, have displayed an equal strength of mind, an equal degree of patriotism, and an equal amount of conjugal devotion.

After Mr. Madison's retirement she remained with him at his seat at Montpelier, Va., smoothing the downward path of an aged mother-in-law, and performing in an equally exemplary manner, her duties to her husband, until his death, in 1836. During the greater part of the subsequent period she resided in Washington, the center of a refined and cultivated circle, courted and caressed by Americans, and honored by the attentions of the people of all ranks and all nations. Her devotion to her husband's memory lasted till her death, and through her efforts an appropriation was made for the publication of his papers.

A Remembrance Album.
[Detroit Free Press.]

My remembrance album is an original idea of mine, and I am very sure that many of the members of the "Household" would want an album just like mine if they could see it. I request my friends to take a sheet of ordinary sized writing paper, and on the first page write some poetry suitable for an album. Original poetry is preferred of couse, but a quotation from the writer's favorite poet is not to be despised. In the second page the writer's name, address and the date is to be written. On the third page I ask my artist friends to draw or paint something, but those not artistically inclined to fasten some ferns, flower or leaves, with the name of the same written underneath. Care should be taken in selecting thin, delicate articles, as all others prove brittle and hard to manage when pressed. The fourth and last page I fasten to my album, which is large enough to allow a broad margin after the sheet is placed thereon.

The Colonel on Table Manners.
[Chicago Herald.]

"I have heard," said the colonel, "of a gentleman, frequenting a certain restaurant on Dearborn street, who as regular as clock work picks up his napkin after he sits down and wipes his neck and face with it. He then stuffs one end into his shirt collar to shield his manly breast. Guests have grown accustomed to watch his performance. That, of course, is a monstrum of bad manners.

"A gentleman who is invited to dinner or luncheon party should be punctual, in the first place. Louis XIV., the great French autocrat, may have been a bad man, but he had most undoubtedly good manners. We owe him the nice bon mot: 'Punctuality is the politeness of kings.' Contrary to this, some people think it good manners not to be 'on time,' but this is a bad mistake. If every guest were punctual to the minute, hostess and host would be relieved of a great deal of embarrassment. In the dining-room the gentlemen should not seat themselves before all the ladies are seated. That includes the ladies of the household, if the occasion is a private dinner. As a matter of course, the ladies should always be served first at table. In handling napkins properly a great many bad breaks are committed. It should not be tucked under the chin or tied around the neck in mule's-ear fashion, because it is no bib or tucker from the nursery, and a grown person is supposed to convey a spoonful of soup to the mouth without marking way stations on the shirt front. The napkin should not be spread over the lap, as it is not intended to serve as an apron. Pick it up, unfold it discreetly, and let it fall lightly over your knee. The napkin should never be used for any other purpose than to wipe the lips, and that should be done in a light, easy manner, and not with elaborate movements of the arms, like waving a star-spangled banner.

"Neither the napkin nor knife and fork or any other table implement should be used as a plaything. Persons who are unaccustomed to eat, knowing only the regular gorging or feeding process, grow nervous. They are, perhaps, quite good conversationalists in the drawing-room, but grow bashful at the table, and want to conceal their embarrassment by picking up things from the table and handling them in a playful manner. That is very bad tone. Every one whose circumstances require it should try to learn repose. Not a studied stiffness, but an easy, expectant manner, always on the alert to attend to the comforts of those around him, especially ladies, and ready to carry on a light conversation if there be any delay between the courses. Some people will hold a knife and fork like a pencil while eating. That is overdone, and will lead to dropping them on the floor or on the lap of the neighbor. Knife and fork should be held in such a manner that the handles rest in the palm of the hand so that the grip may be tightened to avoid accidents. It is decidedly beastly—if you'll excuse that expression—to practice the sword-swallowing act, that is, to shovel meat, vegetables and gravy by means of the knife into the mouth, revealing the latter's capacity to the fullest extent. The fork is there for the purpose of conveying the edibles to the mouth. But the fork should not be packed full of morsels as large as a base ball. In fact, the mouth should never be too full. That prevents mastication and looks gluttonish. Besides, there is no hurry; any haste while partaking of a meal in company is vulgar. Last of all the plate should not be cleaned from all remnants of gravy by means of crumbs of bread. One has a right to suppose the people who give a dinner are able to pay a dishwasher in the kitchen.

"I could go on for hours," said the colonel, "in telling what people should not do at the table, because table etiquette, like all other rules of society is mainly prohibitory in its character. The best thing for a novice in manners is to feel confident but not cheeky, be a keen observer, and imitate the best people in the company. The ladies are always the best examples."

Industrious Italian Women.
[Rome Letter in Boston Herald.]

How little we know of people unless we live with them. Our idea of Italian women, for instance, is that they spend their time, like Turkish sultanas, sleeping or lounging listlessly in soft couches, their only occupation being love-making or perchance learning how to sing a song. Never was there a greater mistake. Italian women, even in towns and in good circumstances, work harder than any other women I know. Not a stitch is done in the house that they do not do. They spin and make their own linen, rear their own silk worms, knit their own stockings and the stockings of the whole family, make their own dresses, hats, bonnets, and cloaks, and superintend all the baking, cooking, and cleaning of the house, if they do not positively do them themselves. They rarely go out except on Sundays and holidays, and rarely receive visitors unless in the highest society, where one day a week is set aside for receiving. They are perfect slaves to their husbands, whose comforts they study from morning until night.

I have heard much of Italian illicit love-making, but I have never seen it. It may exist, perhaps, among the aristocracy, but, in the middle and lower classes, it is more imagination than reality. Bonny brides, even in high society, still maintain the custom of making their own wedding outfits. A young friend of mine, who has just married, has brought her husband four dozen of every article of body and house linen, all made and embroidered with her own hands, even the lace which trims the house linen being her own work. All the stockings, also, were knitted by herself. Nor is this the exception; it is the rule in Italy. Who, after this, shall say the Italian women are idlers? No one, certainly, who has known and seen them as I have will ever say so; on the contrary, I would hold them up as models for all other women to imitate. Why, even in Rome, once the capital of the world, the women spend their time between their house and church, varying these with an occasional walk on Sundays and great holidays, while everything in the house is done by themselves, servants being too expensive for most incomes nowadays.

Foot Gear.
[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Bunches of fruit have disappeared from winter hats and descended to the black or colored silk dress shoes. Very elegant little bunches of strawberries, currants, raspberries, etc., are placed in the center of lace rosettes, while bunches of larger fruit, such as cherries, hips and grapes are put on the shoe quite alone. For fine leather shoes a large silver, bronze or steel buckle is preferred and the popular Moliere shoe displays as becoming an practical a novelty in the shape of a small agraffe kind of metal clasp, which gives security to the knot of the ribbon bow.

Ventilating the Bedclothes.
[London Lancet.]

Considering that most of us pass one-third of our lives in bed, it is manifestly of considerable importance to see that the conditions under which we exist for eight hours out of every twenty-four are, as far as we can make them, healthy. It must be obvious that it cannot be conducive to health to accumulate the exhalations from our bodies, and adopt such measures as may insure our taking them again into our lungs. That which is thrown off either in the breath or by perspiration, sensible or insensible, must clearly be excrementitious, and therefore ought to be allowed to pass away. We should not breathe air or vapor which is laden with the debris of the body, though the body be our own.

Another point of moment is, that we should not allow our strength to be weakened by excessive heat and action of the skin during a third of our time. It is, therefore, with great pleasure we find that an attempt has been made to ventilate quilts. We do not quite understand the process which has just been patented, but it is said to consist in a system of perforations which are filled in with some substance that allows the vapor to escape. We are informed that the artifice, whatever it be, is entirely successful. Our readers will do well to be on the watch for Mr. Pocknell's invention, and to give "the ventilated quilt" a fair trial; something of the sort is beyond a doubt much needed. It is well to lie warm at night, so far as the more important parts of the body are concerned; but it is most undesirable to be warm, and, above all, "stuffy" while we sleep.

Athlophoros

ATHLOPHOROS is a novel word to most people who speak the English language. The Greeks used it centuries ago, meaning by it "THE PRIZE-BEARER."

ATHLOPHOROS is the first and only medicine which has carried off the prize as the perfect remedy for Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

Like two relentless tyrants they have for ages held their suffering victims in an iron grip. These poor sufferers have been as slaves in the power of their oppressors.

ATHLOPHOROS has entered the arena, engaged in conflict with the monsters, and won the victory. As the competitors in the Grecian games of old could win only by the most severe trials of ability and endurance, so ATHLOPHOROS has won the prize, not alone by giving temporary relief, but by bringing an enduring cure, as well, to those who have suffered the excruciating agonies of Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

ATHLOPHOROS is a novelty, not only in name, but in its elements. It is unlike any preparation yet introduced.

ATHLOPHOROS acts on the blood, muscles and joints, removing the poison and acid from the blood, carries them out of the system.

ATHLOPHOROS is put up with consummate skill, and contains nothing that can possibly harm the most delicate constitution.

Now, do you want to suffer on and on? or do you want to be well?

"Athlophoros" WILL Cure You

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters to

KEEP'S SHIRTS.

The very best custom shirts made to measure six for $10. Gentlemen who are not familiar with our way of doing business might reasonably expect that we, like others offering to make custom shirts to measure, six for $10, would inform the customer that the very best cost $18 or $21 for six. With us the very best means the best that we or any other house can produce. We manufacture custom shirts on a larger scale than any other firm in America, devoting four stories of our large building exclusively to that purpose. Every shirt maker in our factory is an expert. To keep them constantly employed we are making fine shirts for stock that are sold at pretty near cost. Our $1 shirt is the best in the world for the money.

Briefets.

—Knights of Pythias, Oriental Lodge No. 22, meet this evening in Castle Hall.

—Hon. Clinton Babbitt, secretary of the state agricultural society, was in the city to-day.

—Janesville City Lodge No. 90, I. O. O. F., occupy Odd Fellows hall this evening.

—The building of new dwelling houses promises to be lively again this season, in Janesville.

—Mayor-elect Richardson is gathering facts for his inaugural message, which he says will be very brief.

—Hon. S. J. Todd, of Beloit, was in the city to-day, attending to legal business at the court house.

—Ex-Sheriff H. L. Skavlem and his brother-in-law Mr. Springen, are meeting with good success dealing in horses at Mayville, Dakota.

—Hon. R. J. Burdge, of Beloit, was looking over the county buildings in this city to-day. Wonder if he noticed the round hole in the tower of the court house?

—Hon. David Joy, of Huron, Dakota, is in the city, visiting the family of his son-in-law, Mr. H. C. Stearns, of the first ward. Mrs. Joy and three children arrived in the city last week.

—Mr. George Anderson, who has been sick for several weeks, has recovered his usual health, and is now back at his old place in Mr. C. C. Stocking's barber shop next door north of the Gazette.

—Madam Dubshey, the well known bareback rider and high tight rope walker, has arrived in the city from the east and is at the Myers house. She will travel with the Burr Robbins shows this season.

—The religious meetings conducted by Mr. J. W. Dean, the evangelist, will be held daily at the Presbyterian church, commencing at three o'clock in the afternoon, and at 7:30 in the evening. All are cordially invited.

—An immense crowd of people visited the saloon of Mr. Fred Stillson, West Milwaukee street, last evening, the occasion being the grand re opening and free lunch. The saloon is one of the best furnished in the west.

—Beloit Free Press:—The wife of Mr. Al. Malone is dangerously sick with inflammatory rheumatism. Dr. Palmer, of Janesville was called for council on Sunday.——Mrs. Charles Allen, of Janesville, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. P. H. Crahen.

—The remains of Mrs. Theodore Conant will arrive from St. Louis on the 1:20 train from the south to-morrow. They will be taken from the depot to the cemetery where a brief service will be held by the Rev. Mr. Wilcox, of Court Street church.

—Several of our citizens, owners of good horses, are just now agitating the organization of an anti-horse thief association, similar to the associations in the country towns. Such an organization would result in much benefit to all horse owners, and we hope the agitation will result in the organization of a strong society.

—A nineteen-year old vagrant was before the municipal court yesterday afternoon, who stood six feet nine inches in his old boots. He was quite a curiosity, as it seldom happens that a person of that height appears in court. This boy said he was raised in Canada. He was allowed to go, on promise to leave the city on the first train.

—To show how rapidly some of our lumber merchants handle lumber we will mention the fact that one day last week Messrs. David Jeffris & Co. started with a car load of 14,000 feet of hemlock plank, went down to the railroad bridge at Afton, unloaded the plank and returned home, being just thirty-five minutes away from the St. Paul depot in this city. They unloaded the lumber at the bridge in thirteen minutes, standard time.

—Mr. J. E. Chapman, the live agent for the McCormick harvesting machine, left last evening for a business trip through the territory over which he is brigadier general. His territory embraces the counties of Dane, Columbia, Jefferson, Green, Rock, Walworth, Racine and Kenosha, in this state, and Lake, McHenry and Boone in Illinois, with headquarters in this city. He has now thirty-eight agencies to look after in the above counties. He is one of the most popular general agents in the employ of that company.

Allen's Billious Physic is a purely vegetable liquid remedy for headaches, biliousness and constipation. Easily taken acting promptly, relieving quickly, 25 cts. At all druggists.

Who are Voters.

That our readers may understand the law governing our municipal election, relating to qualified voters, we publish Section 8, of Chapter 2 of the city charter, which reads:—"All persons entitled to vote for county or state officers, and who shall reside in the ward where they offer to vote, shall be entitled to vote for any officer to be elected under this act, and be eligible to any office thereby created."

Section 12, of the Revised Statutes, as amended March 10, 1883, read: "Every male person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, belonging to either of the following classes, who shall have resided in the state for one year next preceding any election, and in the election district where he offers to vote, ten days, shall be deemed a qualified elector at such election."

The classes referred to above, are designated as naturalized citizens, civilized Indians, etc.

By this it seems that a ten days' residence in the ward is required at our city as well as the state election.

Papillon Skin Cure, Papillon Catarrh Cure, Papillon Cough Cure, manufactured by the Papillon Manufacturing Co. of Chicago, Ill., and advertised in this paper is for sale by Palmer & Stevens and Prentice & Evenson.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Shilo's Medicines.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 29 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy, with west wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 37 degrees above zero. Cloudy with northwest wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 30 and 48 degrees above zero.

Our City Parks.

Immediately after the completion of the Rock county court house in 1870, the city and county expended considerable money in grading four blocks of ground surrounding the building and planting trees. Within a couple of years after the commencement of this good work, the people of Janesville congratulated themselves that in a very few years they would possess one of the handsomest and most inviting public parks in the state. At first, the city authorities manifested considerable pride in the yearly improvements; the old wooden fence was torn down and removed; Mr. C. B. Conrad was elected alderman of the third ward, in which the park is located, and he was appointed chairman of the park committee, and to his good judgment, assisted by his collegue, Dr. O. P. Robinson, the people were much indebted for the many improvements made during their official term. Walks were laid out, running in different directions over the grounds, but for some reason were never completed. Made of material unfit for such use, and very uncomfortable for pedestrians to travel on, they rapidly fell into disuse, and for the past year or two, people passing through the grounds have regularly avoided them. People living in the neighborhood of the park, and having occasion to pass over the grounds, making their own path until now a well beaten foot road is marked from nearly every residence surrounding the park. On the slope to the west of the building, several little ditches or water courses have appeared, indicating that in a very short time, if not remedied, the old ditch that used to be a barrier to travel in that part of the grounds, will again be in place. Many of the trees have died, and in some cases old crooked, stunted sticks, in imitation of trees, have been set out, for which a good price has been paid, but which are not only unsightly, but not worth the room they occupy. All these defects should be remedied. The walks in the park should be repaired and put in shape for pedestrians, and then a fine imposed on all persons who persist in breaking new paths through the grounds. The unsightly, sickly trees, especially those in front of the building, should be removed, and healthy ones put in their places, and some means adopted to protect the grounds from being ruined by the passage of teams, buggies, etc., on the grassy plats. Many of our people yet look forward to the time when the park will be an ornament to the city, and sincerely trust that the authorities will take some measures, at least, to prevent its further decline, in the above particulars.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth, can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds, and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter, and all skin eruptions. Try this wonder healer. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Stearns & Baker.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Bucklin's Arnica Salve.

Municipal Court.

Yesterday Mr. Richard Valentine swore out a warrant against Mr. Anson Rogers for using abusive language on the streets. This morning Mr. Rogers appeared before the municipal court, plead guilty to the charge, and was fined ten dollars and costs, all amounting to $12.45. Paid. This case was the result of a little discussion in front of the postoffice on Friday last, growing out of the late election. Messrs. J. B. Doe, Jr., and C. L. Clark appeared for the city, and the defendant conducted his own case. The defendant raised the point that, as the common council had not authorized Messrs. Doe and Clark to appear in place of the city attorney, they had no right to be heard. The court did not decide the point, but was inclined to sustain the same. Mr. Rogers having plead guilty, the case was brought abruptly to an end.

You will find all medicines advertised in this paper at Prentice & Evenson's opposite postoffice, Janesville. Medicines not in liquid form sent by mail Prescriptions and receipts prepared from pure drugs, cheaper than at any other reliable drugstore in the county.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Mrs. Pinkham's Compound.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Athlophoros.

A Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hayner, of Chicago, were bereaved by the death of their little son which took place on the 20th of March, and the Gazette is requested to publish the following:

We wish to express sincere thanks to all those who extended such earnest sympathy in our affliction. Especially do we thank her whose ministrations were so gentle and who lent such efficient aid; also, him who so tenderly laid our little Guy away. All that is left us is the mute appeal of the flowers; beautiful are they, but none so rare as the delicate blossom transplanted to fairer gardens.

MR. AND MRS. A. D. HAYNER,
271½ South Oakley Avenue, Chicago.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice, sell Collins' Cherry Cough Cure.

Physicians, clergymen, and scientists, unite in recommending the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

Attention. Firms.

Having dissolved partnership with Mr. Jay Campbell, I take pleasure in informing the public that I shall continue the business of buying and selling real estate at the office formerly occupied by Campbell & Stevens. I have procured the services of an experienced real estate agent who will assist me in my endeavors to give satisfaction to my patrons.

If you have property to dispose of, or desire to purchase a home, give me a call. Office, in Myers' new block, Janesville Wis. F. L. STEVENS.

Holy Week.

Holy week services at Christ church, as follows: Monday and Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock p. m. Tuesday and Thursday at 7 p. m. Holy communion at the Thursday evening service. Good Friday at 10:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. Saturday at 3:30 p. m. and 7 p. m. Holy baptism will be administered at any of these services to persons desiring that sacrament.

The Shetland Ponies.

The importation of a lot of Shetland ponies by the Galbraith brothers, of this city, will no doubt create considerable interest in these rugged little animals in this locality. Mr. Archie Galbraith is expected to arrive this evening or to-morrow, in charge of the ponies. That something relating to the value of these little creatures on their rock-bound island home, will be of some interest to the readers of the Gazette, we publish the following item:—

"The native live stock of Shetland can not generally be commended, but the well-known pony of that part of the world is perfect of his kind. As carts would be out of place on the steep sides of the hills ponies are kept in every family for the purpose of carrying peat for winter use. The fuel, after being dried, is placed in baskets called "cassies," one of which hangs on the side of the animal's back—a strong, broad back, admirably adapted for the purpose of bearing heavy burdens. The pony of the Shetland isle is, in fact, the offspring of circumstances. He is the pet of the family, gentle as the Arab steed under similar training. He will follow his friends indoors like a dog, and lick the platters or the children's faces. He has no more kick in him than a cat and no more bite than a puppy. He is a noble example of the complete suppression of those vicious propensities that some of his kind exhibit when they are ill-treated, and of the intelligence and good temper that may be developed in horses by kindness. There is no precedent for his running away, nor of his becoming frightened or tired when he has carried some stout lard from Lerwick to his house, many Scotch miles across the hills. He moves down the rugged paths with admirable circumspection, loaded pannier-fashion with two heavy "cassies" of peat, picking his way step by step, sometimes sideways. In crossing boggy spots, where the water is retained, and a green carpet of aquatic grass might deceive some steeds and bring them headlong to grief in the spongy trap, he carefully smells the surface and is enabled to circumvent the danger."

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Athlophoros.

In the entire history of Rheumatic and Neuralgic remedies there is no record like that made by ATHLOPHOROS. The testimonials are from the very best people. They are only given after a fair trial. They are direct and unqualified as to the cures it works. The test cases have all been difficult ones, many of them cases given up by doctors, or where despair had set in after remedies were supposed to be exhausted. And last, by no means least, the best and strongest of the testimonials are from persons who never before testified to the merits of any preparation.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Brown's Iron Bitters.

Milton.

—Our village schools closed Friday, and after a vacation of one week will open again next Monday. The school this winter has been gratifying successful in every particular, and the prospects for the term just ready to open are indeed flattering. We can hardly bestow too much praise upon our excellent teachers, Mr. W. T. Tickner, of the grammar department, Miss May McCune, of the intermediate, and Miss Eva Nye, of the primary.—Princeton (Wis.) Reporter.

—Dr. W. H. Borden is taking a special course of lectures at Rush Medical college this month, going to the city Monday, and returning Saturday night.

—Men in the employ of the railroad company are putting up the new wind mill at the station. They have removed the unused tank that has been an eyesore so long to everybody.

—Clarke keeps the finest line of cigars and tobacco in the village.

—Mrs. E. A. Saunders is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wells. She resides at Ripon.

—Plumb & Son anticipate a good trade in their line of business this season and are already beginning to fill orders.

—Cory and Cary have a very neat sign in front of their place of business.

—Rev. Perry Millar and wife, of Antigo, are visiting Milton relatives.

—The farewell concert to Prof. Williams, by the Choral Union on Thursday evening, was not as liberally patronized as it should have been. The programme was quite interesting.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Havens, of Dodge Center, Minnesota, arrived in town last week and are stopping with their parents. George has been dangerously ill with pneumonia.

—James S. Dunn has gone to Mason City, Iowa, where he is employed in the supply department of the St. Paul railroad company.

—David Walsh is building a barn on his lot, north of James McEwan's, and a new house will be the next thing.

—When you want a good trunk call on W. W. Clarke.

—Some repairs on the sidewalks are needed and the pathmaster will undoubtedly give the matter their attention at an early date.

—Dr. Bagle, of Whitewater, intends to locate here if he can rent a house.

—James McEwan is about to do some building on his premises.

—W. W. Clark will furnish you a watch at lower figures than anyone else.

—Mrs. J. B Anderson is visiting her parents at Orfordville.

—E. B. Saunders has bought the house owned by Mrs. Minnifie on the Johnstown road and a lot adjoining owned by P. Tompkins.

—Prof. H. C. Curtis, of the Juneau public schools, is spending his spring vacation here. Mrs. Curtis is with him.

Letter from J. Malcolm Smith, Clerk of Westchester County, New York for Nine Years.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 7, 1883.—I have for many years been troubled at times with muscular rheumatism and pleuritic pains, and have always found Allcock's Porous Plasters to be quick and efficient in affording relief.

In December last I had an attack of Pneumonia, which left one of my lungs in a weak and extremely sensitive condition, accompanied at times with severe pain. The application of one plaster relieved the pain in a short time, and I have worn one almost constantly since, as a protection to the weakened lung.

I have used Allcock's Porous Plasters for myself and family for over twenty-five years, always with speedy, beneficial results, and I do not hesitate to recommend them for their mild, counter-irritant qualities, and for their efficiency in relieving soreness of the lungs and pains of a rheumatic or neuralgic character.

J. MALCOLM SMITH.

Be sure to obtain "Allcock's" Porous Plaster, as all others are worthless imitations.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Ayer's medicines.

Tobacco Sales.

200 cases, crop of 1882, Pennsylvania, at 5 to 20 cents.

200 cases, crop of 1881, Pennsylvania, at 5 to 10½ cents.

100 cases, crop of 1882, New England, at 12 to 23 cents.

Total cases, 800.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

Base Ball.

BALTIMORE, April 8.—The exhibition base ball game played here, between the Baltimore Association club and the Buffalo League club, may be classed among the finest ever played in this city. The score was: Buffalo, 1; Baltimore, 0.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Metropolitans, 0; Clevelands, 7.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 8.—Base ball. Washington, 3; Providence, 10.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—Athletics, 9; Philadelphias, 8.

West Africa.

LONDON, April 8.—In the house of commons the marquis of Hartington, secretary of state for war, in answer to a question, stated that the commanders of the British men of war stationed off the African coast have been ordered to oppose any further attempts of the Portuguese to extend their territory beyond Ambreso.

Virginia Readjusters.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 8.—At the Readjuster convention seven delegates were elected for the Richmond convention, which will be held April 30. The city committee was reorganized. D. A. Wurdson being replaced as chairman by Edward Burkes.

They Believe in El Mahdi.

PARIS, April 8.—The explorer, Molineaux, sends word that he has surveyed the Nile as far as the second cataract. He has found that the people generally believe in El Mahdi.

Will Be Offered to Boutwell.

BOSTON, April 8.—It is reported from Washington that the vacant Boston circuit judgeship will be offered to ex-Governor Boutwell, and it is also said he will decline.

An Undoubted Blessing.

About thirty years ago a prominent physician by the name of Dr. William Hall discovered, or produced after long experimental research, a remedy for diseases of the throat, chest, and lungs, which was of such wonderful efficacy that it soon gained a wide reputation in this country. The name of the medicine is DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and may be safely relied on as speedy and positive cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, etc.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Allcock's Plasters.

Edwards Alterative and Tonic Bitters are sold at Palmer & Stevens' drugstore.

Forger Arrested.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Detective Flynn, of the Grand Trunk road at Montreal, has taken back to Canada from Chicago a clever forger, Peter St. Clair Johnson, a Scotchman, aged 35 years, who was recently employed in the Grand Trunk offices. Johnson is charged with having forged a receipt for nearly $4,000, which he should have paid the firm of Gardner & Sons, iron merchants, of Montreal. He came to this city with his family, and was arrested at the Commercial hotel. Nearly all the money has been recovered.

Riot Feared in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 8.—All stores in the republic are closed in protest against the stamp act. Efforts at a compromise between the merchants and president have failed. The latter insists on collecting the tax at all hazards. There is some talk of fining the merchants for violating the spirit of the law. Minister Morgan is unable to protect the property of Americans against the enforcement of the decree. All business is suspended. No stores will be opened unless the police open them. There is great anxiety, and a riot is feared.

Struck for a Safe Shop.

BIDDEFORD, Me., April 8.—The workmen at C. P. Emery's shop in Saco, some eighty in number, left their work on account of the dangerous condition of the building, which has been pronounced unsafe and liable to fall at any time.

Wallace Ross the Oarsman.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Wallace Ross, the champion sculler, who recently defeated Bubear, over the Thames course has arrived from Liverpool. He was met at quarantine by a large party of friends who had chartered a tug for the occasion.

Four Thousand for a Seat.

NEW YORK, April 8.—William H. Vanderbilt has sent a check for $4,000 as the price of his box on the occasion of the benefit to Henry E. Abbey at the Metropolitan opera house, April 21.

Offers to Save Gordon.

CAIRO, April 8.—Zebehr Pasha has offered to send his son to Khartoum to rescue Gen. Gordon, remaining at Cairo himself as a hostage for Gordon's safety.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Preventive of Malarial Diseases.

OPINION OF EMINENT DR. H. R. WALTON, OF ANNAPOLIS, MD.

"COLDEN'S LIQUID BEEF TONIC is a most excellent preparation. It is par excellence, superior to cod-liver oil or anything I have ever used in wasted or impaired constitutions, and extremely beneficial as a preventive of malarial diseases." (Remember the name, COLDEN'S—take no other.) Of druggists generally.

The Head and Eye.

Since last October I have suffered from acute inflammation in my nose and head—often in the night having to get up and inhale salt and water for relief. My eye has been twice, for a week at a time, so I could not see. I have used no end of remedies, also employed a doctor, who said it was impure blood—but I got no help. I used Ely's Cream Balm on the recommendation of a friend. I was faithless, but in a few days was cured. My nose now, and also my eye, is well. It is wonderful how quick it healed me. MRS. GEORGIE S. JUDSON, Hartford, Conn.
